

(This event is finished.)

Announcement for the JLPT orientation

Japanese Section,
Institute for Liberal Arts, Tokyo Tech

The Japanese Language Proficiency Test, JLPT, is an official and largest-scale test to measure the Japanese language proficiency, and is useful for job hunting in Japan. Why don't you try and take the JLPT now to measure your Japanese language proficiency?

Date and time: Mar. 17 (Wed) P.M. 14:00–15:00 @Zoom

This orientation is suitable for:

- those who are not familiar with but are interested in the JLPT;
- those who are planning to take the JLPT for the first time.

Content:

1. What is the JLPT?
2. Levels of the test
3. Let's try the JLPT sample tests
4. Personal consultation

How to apply:

1. Send your application through the google forms (<https://forms.gle/nZM6KeNJ4xtTn26g7>).
2. The Zoom URL will be sent to the applicants on the day before.
3. Enter the Zoom meeting room from 13:50 to 14:00, prior to the orientation.

Application deadline: Mar. 15 (MON), 23:59 JST

Contact:

basic#js.ila.titech.ac.jp (Please change # to @ when you email.)

*You must not disclose the Zoom ID to anyone.